

Oxford Society of Glasgow University Graduates

The Origins of the Society

The Oxford Society of Glasgow University Graduates (OSGUG) was founded in 1990 to enable alumni and former staff of the University to establish and maintain social contact with one another while taking an interest in and promoting the academic pursuits and aspirations of their Alma Mater. The Society brought together a number of eminent academics working in the University of Oxford, distinguished research scientists at Harwell, doctors, teachers, business professionals and military service personnel. Membership grew quickly, demonstrating that unique sense of identity and pride in our long association with the city and the University of Glasgow. Students traditionally forge strong and enduring friendships during their undergraduate years but OSGUG has enabled many new and warm personal ties to be established in the two decades since it was set up. We share a pride in our academic and career achievements but also gratitude to the University which strives for ever higher standards in education and research. Our members' individual and collective commitment to the University and to its current and future students shines through in the level of donations given to The University of Glasgow Trust which now exceeds £100,000. OSGUG is listed as a Major Donor on the University's Online Benefactor Wall in recognition of the support it has provided to specific and general projects.

Our Patron

Sir Drummond Bone, a graduate of Glasgow University, Master of Balliol College is our patron. Our previous patrons were Sir William Kerr Fraser, a former Principal and former Chancellor of the University of Glasgow, and Sir Alexander Cairncross, a former Chancellor of the University of Glasgow, and a former Master of St Peter's College in the University of Oxford.

The Committee

The current committee is:
John Gordon – President
Margaret Stevenson – Secretary
Ken McClements – Treasurer

We welcome volunteers to join the Committee and assist in the organisation of our meetings and events.

Over the past twenty-seven years we have been privileged to be addressed by distinguished speakers from the University including two Chancellors, four Principals, two Deans of Faculty and the Astronomer Royal of Scotland. We have also had a private dinner with a former Home Secretary and Chancellor of the Exchequer.

Our AGM is held in the spring.

Events

The programme for the year ahead is set out in an Annual Newsletter. Details of specific events are sent to members about four weeks in advance and are also posted on our website <http://osgug.org.uk>. Fuller details of events over the past few years can be viewed on our website.

The social events we organise are aimed at bringing members together in relaxed and informal gatherings. These have included hearty social events like ceilidhs, St Andrew's Night dinner/dances and informal pub lunches. There have also been theatre evenings, private music recitals and visits to places of interest including the Bodleian Library and Highclere Castle. Our hallmark Burns Supper, normally held annually, is a night to remember!
